U.S. soldiers kill 114 Viet Cong in raid

By JACK WALSH
SAIGON (UPI)—U.S. infantrymen slammed into two Communist base camps on infiltration corridors into Saigon and killed 114 guerrillas while capturing 134 suspects, military spokesmen said today.

In Saigon, the national police director, Col. Tran Van Hai, said Communist squads were slipping into the capital in preparation for an "inside attack this month."

Hai said his men had captured a Viet Cong tape recording exhorting South Vietnamese troops, police and civilians to come over to their side. Apparently, Hai said, the Communists planned to broadcast it after seizing the government radio station in Saigon.

Battle Infiltrators
The two battles on Saigon's outskirts erupted Thursday 12 miles southwest and 26 miles northwest of the capital on Viet Cong invasion approaches from hideouts along the Cambodian border. Among the suspects seized for questioning were three nurses, spokesmen said.

The battles marked an increasing tempo of Communist activity in the provinces around Saigon, pointing perhaps to the offensive allied commanders have expected for months.

A total of 39 Americans were killed and 42 wounded in the two fights, most of them when the Communists fired into a flight of helicopters carrying them into the battle northwest of Saigon. The U.S. troops called in air strikes on the enemy hideouts.

Down Two Copters
UPI correspondent David Lamb said the Communists shot down two U.S. helicopters in the day-long Mekong Delta fighting. Soldiers of the U.S. 101st Air Cavalry and 9th Division reported killing a total of 46 Viet Cong and capturing 30 suspects in the fighting 20 miles

Do petition signers support their minor parties?

By BOYD GILL
INDIANAPOLIS (UPI)—Indiana election records show that thousands of voters who sign petitions to get minor political parties on the ballot fail to support those parties when they go to the polls.

The most outstanding example is the Socialist Labor Party. That party has had presidential candidates on the Hoosier ballot since 1928 with but one exception and they never have received more than 2,070 votes.

State law gives minor parties an automatic place on the ballot if their candidates receive votes exceeding one-half of one per cent of the total vote cast for all candidates for secretary of state. In recent years, none has made the grade, although the Prohibition Party once did so consistently.

The alternative is submitting petitions signed by a number of voters equal to one-half of one per cent of the total vote cast for secretary of state candidates in the last preceding election.

This year, minor parties were required to have 8,320 signatures on their petitions. Five met the requirement and submitted a total of more than 70,000 signatures. Only three were accepted, but the odds for each of them getting as many as 8,320 votes Nov. 5 were pretty slim.

In 1964, the Prohibition Party almost made it with 8,266. But the Socialist Labor Party got only 1,374. In 1956 and 1960, the Socialist Labor vote totals were even less than that and the total so-called "protest" vote was only a little above 7,500.

Observers believe many of the signers do not vote at all and others support the minor parties for spots on the ballot but cast ballots for Republican or Democratic candidates when they step behind the curtains of the voting booths on election day.

Except for Henry Wallace when he ran as the Progressive Party presidential candidate and received 9,649 votes in Indiana in 1948, no minor party except Prohibition has received more than a trickle of votes in the last quarter of a century.

Before 1940, however, minor parties often did fairly well. In 1920, the total vote for Prohibition, Socialist and Farmer-Labor party presidential candidates was about 54,500 and in 1924 it was 77,000. But the number dwindled to only 10,000 in 1928, climbed to around 36,000 in 1932, and then dropped again.

The presidential vote for minor parties in the last 50 years:

1964-Prohibition 8,266, Socialist Labor 1,374.
1960-Prohibition 6,746, Socialist Labor 1,136.
1956-Prohibition 6,554, Socialist Labor 1,334.
1952-Prohibition 15,335, Progressive 1,222, Socialist Labor 979.
1948-Prohibition 14,711, Progressive (Henry Wallace) 9,649, Socialist 2,179, Socialist Labor 764.

1944-Prohibition 12,574, Socialist 2,223.
1940-Prohibition 6,437, Socialist 2,075, Socialist Labor 706.
1936-Union 19,407, Socialist 2,856, Communist 1,090.
1932-Socialist 21,388, Prohibition 10,399, Communist 2,187, Socialist Labor 2,070.
1928-Prohibition 5,496, Socialist 3,871, Socialist Labor 645.
1924-Prohibition (LaFollette) 71,700, Prohibition 4,416, Workers 987.
1920-Socialist 24,703, Farmer-Labor 16,499, Prohibition 13,462.
1916-Socialist 21,855, Prohibition 16,368, Progressive (Theodore Roosevelt) 3,898.

Special hearing classes to aid county children

A new multi-county educational program has been added to the Putnam County Joint School Services for the 1968-69 school year.

Coordination, housing and supervision of the new program will be the joint responsibility of the Greencastle Community School System and the South Putnam Community School System.

This is a three year pilot study financed through Title III funds and initiated through the efforts of the State Department of Public Instruction and the State Board of Education.

The project is entitled, "Pre-school Program for Hearing Impaired Children," and will serve Putnam County and the following counties: Parke, Montgomery, Hendricks, Morgan, Owen and Clay.

Named alternate for scholarship

The Putnam County Extension Office has received information that Tonya Harris, R.R. 1, Greencastle, has won the award of alternate for a scholarship to Indiana State University.

Miss Harris won this award at the Indiana State Fair for Girls based on her record in home economics participation in high school, 4-H, and the State Fair School.

The Indiana State Fair awards 13 of these scholarships to girls in the State Fair School to use for further instruction in an Indiana College or University.

Each county is eligible to send three girls to the school. The award is selected on the girls record in 4-H Home Economics projects. Miss Harris, Nancy Perkins of Roachdale, and Florence Danforth of Reelsville, were the representatives from Putnam County. The girls attend classes at the Indiana State Fair. The school lasts the entire length of the fair.

The physical facilities will be made available for the class at the Belle Union Grade School by remodeling a regular classroom to meet the unique needs of these children.

The program is designed to help a child if he is severely hard of hearing and between the ages of two and five years. This program is fully paid and transportation will be furnished for the children.

The child is a candidate for this class if he exhibits one or more of the following symptoms:

- (1) has difficulties speaking and understanding instructions;
- (2) if he doesn't talk;
- (3) continually requests repetition of things being said;
- (4) watches your lips;
- (5) doesn't respond when you speak and he doesn't see your face.

Class instruction will be geared to social and language development needs that are suitable for students of this age level. Stress will be given to the following areas: family life; school; pets; city; farm; weather; holidays; and birthdays.

Classes will begin Sept. 16. Each student will spend two hours a day, five days a week in the classroom. The teacher, Mrs. Julia Raley has professional training in the area of hard of hearing and deaf from Indiana State University and Ball State University. She also has ex-

Limited parking for first game

Greencastle High School Athletic Director, Lloyd Cooper announced today that parking for tonight's 8 p.m. football opener with Edgewood at the high school field will have limited parking facilities due to building construction.

Cooper said approximately 300 cars can be parked in the rear of the school (west) and a first come first serve basis will be in effect for the front parking lot along the football field. The high school will furnish parking attendants.

Cooper also added that the police feel Zinc Mill Road is too narrow for parking.

Season tickets will be on sale tonight for the four home games. Prices are $3.00 for adults and $2.00 for students. Student prices have been raised to 75 cents per game this season. The Quarterback Club will have membership tickets on sale for $1.00.

House burglary reported

Early morning accident damages car, truck

Two vehicles were totally damaged today in an early morning accident on the Albin Pond Road east of Greencastle and one man was taken to the Putnam County Hospital for chest x-rays.

Putnam County sheriff Robert Albright said Charles Gose, 23, Greencastle was driving a 1967 sedan east and attempted to make a left hand turn into his father's drive-way when his vehicle struck a westbound pick-up truck driven by Jackie Whitley, 28, rural route three, Greencastle.

Albright said the steering wheel in Whitley's truck was damaged and injured the driver's chest. Whitley was taken to the hospital. Gose suffered minor cuts in the 6:50 a.m. accident. There were no arrests.

Parked cars sideswiped

City police investigated two minor accidents involving parked automobiles the last two days.

Yesterday police records showed a 1966 sedan sideswiped a parked car at 12:50 p.m.

Police said an auto driven by Nile York, 922 S. Indiana, hit the parked vehicle owned by Norman Jones, 203 S. Bloomington.

Wednesday damages totaling over $800 were caused in a three car accident. Police said a 1963 Sedan driven by John P. Sall, Rockford, Ill., pulled from a parked position on Hanna Street into the path of a 1968 sedan driven by Harry W. Voltmer Jr., of Greencastle. The Voltmer auto pushed the Sall car into a parked vehicle owned by Robert Dorsett, Cloverdale.

Police reported $500 damages to the Voltmer car and $300 to the Sall automobile.

Albright said Gose was driving into sunlight and did not see the approaching truck.

Albright also reported a break-in at the home of John Lyons, route one, Greencastle, about two miles north of the city early today at 12:15 a.m. He said the owner reported a box containing assorted coins was missing. There was no estimate of the amount taken.

The house was entered while the family was away. A lock was broken on a door.

Albright said the break-in added to the numerous burglaries which have been committed since July in Putnam County. He said burglaries in the last two months have out numbered those recorded during the first six months of the year.

A silverware set was reported taken from the home of Mrs. Helen Pollock, rural route 2, Greencastle Wednesday during the late afternoon.

Auto accidents kill 350,622 since 1961

CHICAGO (UPI)—Auto accidents have killed 350,622 persons since Jan. 1, 1961, figures compiled by the National Safety Council showed today.

The traffic fatalities include the total count of each year except 1968, which runs from Jan. 1 through June 30, the council said.

American losses in the Vietnam War number 27,509 from Jan. 1, 1961, through today, the Defense Department announced.

A National Safety Council spokesman cautioned that it is not fair to compare traffic deaths with war casualties, since a relatively few men are exposed to war deaths and "nearly everyone is exposed to motor-vehicle accidents."

Elephant, bands to be featured

The Miller Bros Circus of Etowah, Tenn. has been contracted by the Retail Merchants of the Greencastle Chamber of Commerce to entertain during the Sept. 16 to 18 "Fair on the Square".

The Greencastle High School band will present a concert Tuesday night at 8:30 p.m. during the fair week.

The circus clowns who have made millions laugh and a real live 7,000 pound elephant named "Jessie" that can be touched and will offer rides to spectators, are included in the three day event. The circus will present two free daily shows, one at 4 p.m. and the other at 7:30 p.m. on the N. Jackson Street parking lot.

Trained dogs and Jessie will be performing many stunts they have done on television and in the movies.

Jessie the elephant has been entertaining children all over the nation and Canada. She is 17-years-old and has traveled over 1,000,000 miles by truck and air.

The only circus charge will be for the rides. Discount coupons will be available from many sponsoring merchant free to any child.

Jessie performs who brings their parents to the store.

McCormick said that the planned art league exhibits will not be shown this year.

Bayh seeks disaster aid funds

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., demanded of Agriculture Secretary Orville Freeman today that nine Indiana counties affected by floods last spring be approved for federal disaster aid.

Bayh backed up his demand by sending similar telegrams to President Johnson and Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, asking them to help him get the disaster aid status for Benton, Dearborn, Gibson, Greene, Monroe, Owen, Putnam, Rush and Vanderburgh Counties.

Bayh said those counties were eliminated from a list of 35 for which funds were sought. The remaining 26 counties were awarded $500,000 for farmer assistance, he said.

"The money, according to law, is available for requested purposes and I intend to see to it that Hoosier farmers who qualify are assisted," Bayh said.

Bayh, a candidate for reelection Nov. 5, said his telegram to Freeman was "strongly worded." He said the need for help for farmers in the nine counties was "legitimate." The farms, he said, were in many cases "severely damaged as the result of heavy rains and floods."

He said more than $60,000 should be made available to farmers in the nine counties on a cost-sharing basis "for such purposes as restoring farm lands, removal of debris and fallen trees, and for the replacement of such things as drain tile and privately owned dams."

Counties previously approved for disaster aid were Carroll, Warren, Parke, Vigo, Clay, Morgan, Johnson, Shelby, Henry, Randolph, Wayne, Fayette, Franklin, Bartholomew, Brown, Jennings, Jefferson, Jackson, Lawrence, Martin, Daviess, Pike, Dubois, Posey, Perry and Harrison.

Greens recall Iowa camping experience

James F. and Willa R. Green and son Freddie have returned from their trip to Mt. Pleasant, Iowa, where they camped with 1,112 other units at the old Thresher's Reunion. While there they saw many antique farm machines exhibited. Antique cars from 1900 were viewed. Most were being driven. A 1906 Stanley Steamer was driven around the track. Old school house, church and other town buildings comprising a setting of "years gone by" were seen. An armed robbery of a stage and saloon was staged with the sheriff directing for the safety of viewers.

There were demonstrations of steam at work, sawing logs, pressing sorghum juice, threshing wheat, etc. We also saw soap being made and sorghum made.

Wayne and Mary Wilson of Morton came over and camped with us Saturday. We traveled together on return and stopped at Keokuk, Iowa, where we visited the Dam Locks and the power plant where electricity is generated by water power.

The papers informed us that the Republican Convention in Miami was a cut and dried affair and a bore. What can be said of the one just ended in Chicago? If one liked action there was action plenty inside the barbed wire inclosure and outside it in Lincoln and Grant Parks.

A Democrat convention often puts one in mind of what an Irish soldier had to say of his own people as he was fighting in World War I "I'll tell ye mon we're bloody fighters and when we ain't fightin the Hun we're fightin, on anther."

It is certain that there can be no dignity in high places. Let us hope that in the next four years a better way will be found to get a nominee for President.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Declaring the American public is fed up with the "antiquated and undemocratic" convention system of picking presidential candidates, Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., offered legislation Wednesday to reform or even abolish conventions.

Senate majority leader Mike Mansfield, Mont., backed him up, saying he hoped "that the conventions will be ruled out as a means of selecting candidates." "They don't represent the people," Mansfield said. "The time has come to take a look at the system." He said he favored a national primary election to select the two parties' candidates for the presidency.

DEAR DOLLIES:
Has washday gotcha down?
Are you discouraged with the looks of the laundry you've turned out?

Well then, listen to what our friends at the American Institute of Laundering have to say...

"The use of HARD water in washing not only increases the COST of washing, but makes it practically impossible to remove dirt satisfactorily and to retain the original texture, softness and color of the fabric."

"When fabrics are washed in hard water, insoluble calcium and magnesium soaps are formed which adhere to the fabrics and eventually cause a stiffened and discolored condition accompanied by a rancid odor. And colored articles washed with hard water lose their brightness."

Also, "Under home washing conditions, when hard water is used, the soap consumption can be easily four or five hundred per cent of the amount used in the professional laundry for the same weight of clothes."

You see gals, hard water is not only bad for our clothes and linens, but increases the amount of soap we use—takes so much more to do the job.

So make sure the cause of your laundry problems is not the water itself. You'll not only save extra work and money, but it'll put a sparkle in your eyes when you see that brighter wash!

Bless you,

DEAR HELOISE:
I am bedridden at the moment and have to apply hot, wet compresses to my leg. Rather than have someone always running upstairs to keep me supplied with hot water, I'm making my own.

I'm using an electric coffee pot that we keep as an extra to use when we have company. I took out all the insides, filled it with water and let it get steaming hot. Pour it in a basin, then dip a rolled up hand towel in the hot water, wring it out a little when it gets cool enough to handle and hold it on my leg.

I'm pretty self-sufficient but I do keep my daughter's rubber-topped baton that I can "thump" on the floor for attention when it's needed from downstairs.

I do alterations and have a number of women ask if I can mend covered belt buckles.

There is no way I know of doing this. But I do find that if I paint the back side of the buckle with clear nail polish when new, it holds the edges and I have less trouble with the cover coming off.

Rock upholds state park spending

CORYDON, Ind. (UPI)—Lt. Gov. Robert L. Rock Wednesday accused Republicans of permitting state park facilities to "fall into disrepair" by cutting operating funds "simply to embarrass Governor Branigin."

Rock said in a statement here while campaigning for governor that the Democrats wanted to keep up the facilities and provided for such upkeep in their proposed budget but the 1967 Legislature's House Ways and Means Committee slashed the amounts.

Rock said tourists in Indiana will spend nearly $1 billion this year, including $21 million in Hoosier taxes.

Bayh seeks disaster aid funds

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., demanded of Agriculture Secretary Orville Freeman today that nine Indiana counties affected by floods last spring be approved for federal disaster aid.

Bayh backed up his demand by sending similar telegrams to President Johnson and Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, asking them to help him get the disaster aid status for Benton, Dearborn, Gibson, Greene, Monroe, Owen, Putnam, Rush and Vanderburgh Counties.

Bayh said those counties were eliminated from a list of 35 for which funds were sought. The remaining 26 counties were awarded $500,000 for farmer assistance, he said.

"The money, according to law, is available for requested purposes and I intend to see to it that Hoosier farmers who qualify are assisted," Bayh said.

Bayh, a candidate for reelection Nov. 5, said his telegram to Freeman was "strongly worded." He said the need for help for farmers in the nine counties was "legitimate." The farms, he said, were in many cases "severely damaged as the result of heavy rains and floods."

He said more than $60,000 should be made available to farmers in the nine counties on a cost-sharing basis "for such purposes as restoring farm lands, removal of debris and fallen trees, and for the replacement of such things as drain tile and privately owned dams."

Counties previously approved for disaster aid were Carroll, Warren, Parke, Vigo, Clay, Morgan, Johnson, Shelby, Henry, Randolph, Wayne, Fayette, Franklin, Bartholomew, Brown, Jennings, Jefferson, Jackson, Lawrence, Martin, Daviess, Pike, Dubois, Posey, Perry and Harrison.

Notre Dame invites candidates

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (UPI) — The University of Notre Dame president, Rev. Theodore Hesburgh, today invited the two major presidential nominees to speak here during the election campaign.

Vice President Hubert Humphrey and Richard Nixon have visited the campus before.

Humphrey spoke at the Center for Continuing Education in 1967 and at a political rally in 1964. Nixon visited the campus in 1952 and 1956. He received the annual Patriotism Award of the school's senior class in 1960.

Greens recall Iowa camping experience

James F. and Willa R. Green and son Freddie have returned from their trip to Mt. Pleasant, Iowa, where they camped with 1,112 other units at the old Thresher's Reunion. While there they saw many antique farm machines exhibited. Antique cars from 1900 were viewed. Most were being driven. A 1906 Stanley Steamer was driven around the track. Old school house, church and other town buildings comprising a setting of "years gone by" were seen. An armed robbery of a stage and saloon was staged with the sheriff directing for the safety of viewers.

There were demonstrations of steam at work, sawing logs, pressing sorghum juice, threshing wheat, etc. We also saw soap being made and sorghum made.

Wayne and Mary Wilson of Morton came over and camped with us Saturday. We traveled together on return and stopped at Keokuk, Iowa, where we visited the Dam Locks and the power plant where electricity is generated by water power.

Public is fed up with national conventions

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Declaring the American public is fed up with the "antiquated and undemocratic" convention system of picking presidential candidates, Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., offered legislation Wednesday to reform or even abolish conventions.

Senate majority leader Mike Mansfield, Mont., backed him up, saying he hoped "that the conventions will be ruled out as a means of selecting candidates." "They don't represent the people," Mansfield said. "The time has come to take a look at the system." He said he favored a national primary election to select the two parties' candidates for the presidency.

House Republican leader Gerald R. Ford agreed with Mansfield and Nelson that the convention system might need some improvement, but said it had a valid place in the nation's political workings.

Nelson told the Senate that he thought "a majority of the American public is fed up with our quadrennial political party conventions."

The bill he proposed would create a 30-member commission which by Aug. 1, 1969, would present Congress with either a plan for a nationwide presidential primary or a reformed convention system or a system combining both a primary and conventions.

The commission Nelson proposed would include one appointee each by the three Republican and three leading Democratic contenders for the presidential nominations this year—Richard M. Nixon, Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, Gov. Ronald Reagan of California, Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., and Sen. George S. McGovern, D-S.D.

Six appointees, two of them under 30 and no more than three of them from one political party, would be named by the President; 12 members, six from each party, would be named from Congress, selected by party caucuses and six would be selected by the council of state governments.

DEAR DOLLIES:

Has washday gotcha down? Are you discouraged with the looks of the laundry you've turned out?

Well then, listen to what our friends at the American Institute of Laundering have to say . . .

"The use of HARD water in washing not only increases the COST of washing, but makes it practically impossible to remove dirt satisfactorily and to retain the original texture, softness and color of the fabric."

"When fabrics are washed in hard water, insoluble calcium and magnesium soaps are formed which adhere to the fabrics and eventually cause a stiffened and discolored condition accompanied by a rancid odor. And colored articles washed with hard water lose their brightness."

Also, "Under home washing conditions, when hard water is used, the soap consumption can be easily four or five hundred per cent of the amount used in the professional laundry for the same weight of clothes."

You see, gals, hard water is not only bad for our clothes and linens, but increases the amount of soap we use—takes so much more to do the job.

So make sure the cause of your laundry problems is not the water itself. You'll not only save extra work and money, but it'll put a sparkle in your eyes when you see that brighter wash!

Bless you,

DEAR HELOISE:

I am bedridden at the moment and have to apply hot, wet compresses to my leg. Rather than have someone always running upstairs to keep me supplied with hot water, I'm making my own.

I'm using an electric coffee pot that we keep as an extra to use when we have company.

I took out all the insides, filled it with water and let it get steaming hot. Pour it in a basin, then dip a rolled up hand towel in the hot water, wring it out a little when it gets cool enough to handle and hold it on my leg.

I'm pretty self-sufficient but I do keep my daughter's rubber-topped baton that I can "thump" on the floor for attention when it's needed from downstairs.

Bulletins stopped

By DARRELL GARWOOD
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's unflinching will to live has carried him through the greatest crisis of his life, his doctors reported Tuesday. So "favorable" has his recovery been that they discontinued daily bulletins on his condition.

Eighteen days after the former President suffered his seventh heart attack, the final bulletin issued from Walter Reed Army Medical Center said:

"General Eisenhower had a comfortable night. Progress continues to be favorable. Daily releases will be discontinued unless there is a significant change in his condition."

The team of doctors attending the 77-year-old Eisenhower has refused to speculate on whether he can resume a relatively normal life. Asked that question last week, they said it was too early to tell.

Critical Danger
The last serious incident of heart irritability—very rapid heart action—occurred last Saturday. The doctors had described the heart flutterings as "a constant and critical danger."

The dramatic turn for the better in the general's condition occurred on Aug. 26, when the heart irritability was reported to have ceased.

At one point in the crisis the general's condition was so serious that consideration was given to a heart transfer operation. But it was ruled out as too risky in view of Eisenhower's weakness and his age.

Eisenhower had been on the critical list during the latest siege for nearly three weeks. Reports on his condition were issued at a rate of three or four a day and most of them were extremely gloomy.

It was felt that he had no chance of rallying. Arrangements for his funeral were made but not publicly announced.

Resume Reading
But his remarkable hold on life never ebbed. By last weekend, he was able to sit up in bed, to converse with members of his family, to enjoy music and to resume reading the western novels which had been a source of relaxation for years.

Eisenhower's first heart attack occurred 13 years ago, three years into his first term as President. He was stricken in Denver in September, 1955. He recovered well enough to seek and serve a second term in the presidency.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

THERE'S a sweet young thing on the West Coast who's a mighty unhappy girl these days. When the doctor she was engaged to called the whole thing off, he not only demanded that she return every present he had given her but he also sent her a bill for 61 visits.

Forrest Tucker, making a movie in New York's lower East Side, sought a sandwich in a small delicatessen. It was supplied rather grudgingly, but the proprietor gruffly refused to furnish any mustard. Tucker went back to the set and recruited two extras who were dressed as cops. They handcuffed Tucker, marched him back to the delicatessen and demanded of the owner, "Is this the man who demanded mustard?"

"That's the guy. Why?" asked the owner nervously. The "cops" explained, "He just murdered a man up the street who refused him mustard."

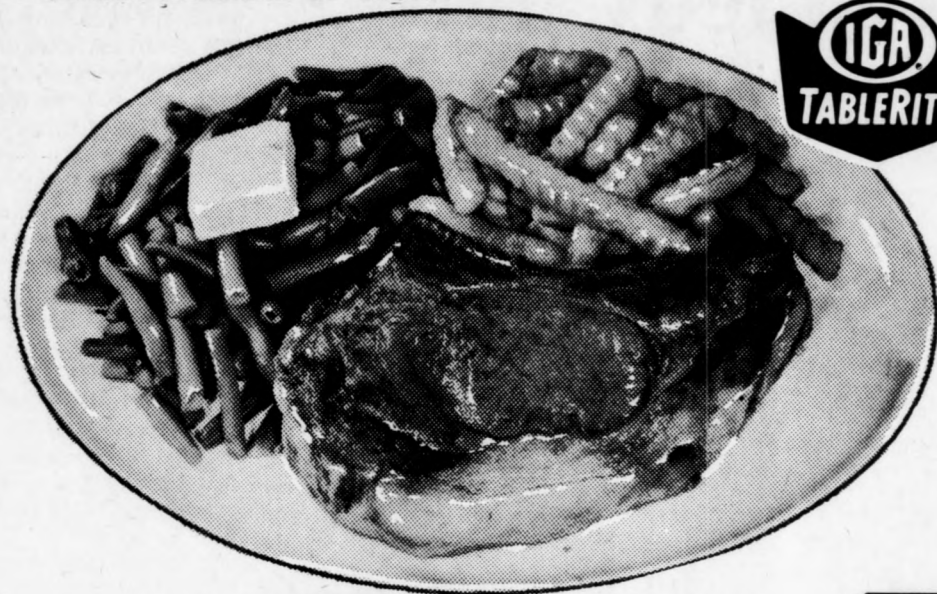

The proprietor produced a bottle of mustard in three seconds flat—then burst into tears.

Bob Considine recalls one erudite fight announcer who grabbed the microphone before one twelve-round bout to identify the veteran challenger as "A man who, like old wine, goes on forever" and then identified the site of the fight as "Fompton Heights—where Washington once slept. You all know Washington, don'tcha? He's the guy that freed the slaves."

War costs Americans 200,000 casualties

By ALVIN B. WEBB Jr.
SAIGON (UPI)—The Vietnam War has cost America more than 200,000 men killed, wounded or lost in action, U.S. headquarters said today.

The disclosure came in the weekly casualty totals which showed 408 U.S. servicemen killed and 2,513 wounded last week, the highest toll since the Communists' May-June summer offensive.

It brought the number of American casualties since Jan. 1, 1961, to 27,509 killed, 171,809 wounded and 1,197 missing—a total of 200,515, the announcement said.

Communist losses last week were 4,476 killed, bringing their total for the war to 390,105. South Vietnamese headquarters said 284 government soldiers were killed and 1,187 wounded, but no totals for the entire war are available.

U.S. battlefield losses have already exceeded those in Korea as well as those suffered by the French in the French-Indochina War, Vietnam is the third costliest war the United States has fought against foreign troops, behind World Wars I and II.

Last week's casualty figures represented the losses in a series of battles along the Cambodian border, in the northern war zone and Communist shellings of key allied bases including Da Nang.

The American losses were the highest since the week ending June 1 when 438 GIs were killed and 3,870 wounded.

In action today Communist forces bombarded eight South Vietnamese outposts guarding

Salmon's western flank against infiltration and tried unsuccessfully to overrun one of them, military reports said.

Typhoon Bess' 75-mile-an-hour winds forced cancellation of U.S. Navy air raids into North Vietnam.

Seven government soldiers were wounded in the series of Communist attacks in Hau Nghia Province, lying between the capital and Cambodia. Five of them were hit while beating off the ground assault, the war communique said.

The shellings erupted before dawn as the Communists apparently tried to keep the outposts busy while infiltrators moved through the night along a favorite 70-mile corridor bombed repeatedly in recent weeks by American B52 bombers.

Heaviest was the attack against an infantry battalion camping 25 miles northwest of Saigon. The Communists opened fire with 30 mortar and recoilless rifle rounds and then attacked on the ground. The announcement said merely "The enemy did not overrun the base." No Communist losses were given.

Humphrey seeks Kennedy aid

By STEVE GERSTEL
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Hubert H. Humphrey, opening his uphill campaign for the presidency to all dissident Democrats, seeks the backing of Sen. Edward M. Kennedy. The man assigned to mold the Humphrey-Kennedy detente is Lawrence F. O'Brien.

O'Brien, Humphrey's campaign manager and handpicked chairman of the Democratic National Committee, said Wednesday he would personally contact Kennedy to determine what role the Massachusetts senator would play in Humphrey's campaign.

O'Brien is the perfect intermediary to make the approach to Kennedy, who has remained aloof from politics since the assassination of his brother,

Robert, on June 4. The former postmaster general was a key campaign strategist for John F. Kennedy in 1960 and was Robert Kennedy's campaign manager until tragedy struck.

A Kennedy endorsement would be a huge plus for Humphrey as he begins his campaign against Richard M. Nixon. The backing of the 37-year-old senator would help in New England, the northern industrial states and California, where the vice president must score to win.

Humphrey abruptly interrupted a weeklong strategy and rest session at his lakeside home in Waverly, Minn., to fly to Washington for a routine session of the National Security Council Wednesday.

The vice president stayed overnight at his Washington apartment and planned to return to Waverly at nightfall after attending a Cabinet meeting.

The campaign itself opens Monday with a cross-country dash starting in Philadelphia at noon and ending in San Francisco. Humphrey plans a stop at Denver, Colo., on his flight to the West.

O'Brien, in a new briefing aboard Humphrey's chartered jet to Washington, indicated that Humphrey expected the "active" support of President Johnson in the campaign.

At the same time, O'Brien indicated Humphrey, after having made several public overtures, will not press for support from Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, the leader of the Democrats "dove" faction.

DEEP IN THOUGHT, Vice President Humphrey went on grounds of his home in Waverly, Minn., where he went to plan strategy for his presidential campaign.

Prospects look good for 69-71 balanced budget

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI)—The prospect looked good that the Indiana Budget Committee will give the 1969 Legislature a balanced budget for the 1969-71 biennium.

The committee indicated Wednesday that a balanced budget should be offered the legislature. Then the legislature could decide if tax increases should be enacted.

None ruled out the possibility of a tax increase. But a difference of opinion came from Rep. Thomas P. Toon, D-Evansville, one of the four members of the budget committee.

He said he thought lawmakers should have some indication of the needs of the state for the next two years, even if those needs exceed the expected income.

The operating budget proposals now being received by the State Budget Agency contain increases except for the big ones—school support, mental health and highways. These are not yet filled.

The Indiana State Police offered a budget of $34.2 million for the next two years, including 100 new troopers. The figure is about $13 million over the previous biennium.

A $74.7 million budget is being proposed by the State Department of Public Welfare, in addition to federal funds which it receives and distributes. This is $18.6 million above the previous biennium.

Farm leaders plan action

WASHINGTON (UPI)—House farm leaders plan to make a push next week for a House-Senate compromise on a farm price support bill and a companion food stamp expansion plan.

Separate House and Senate bills on both issues were passed before the congressional August recess. Efforts to schedule House-Senate conference meetings to compromise the differences were blocked before the recess by parliamentary objections.

Rep. E.C. Gathings, D-Ark., temporarily in charge of the House Agriculture Committee, sought unsuccessfully Wednesday to get unanimous House consent to set up a House-Senate conference.

Informed sources said Gathings would ask the Agriculture Committee to meet next Tuesday to approve a procedure under which the House can decide by simple majority vote to permit the farm-food conference meeting.

New Politics Party still after Hoosier ballot spot

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI)—Governor Branigin planned to wait until the conclusion of an Indiana Election Board meeting today before certifying the names and symbols of minority parties, which petitioned to get on the Indiana ballot in November, to county clerks.

Following a meeting of the election board Tuesday, Branigin said he hadn't received any replies from Sen. Eugene McCarthy or New York Mayor John Lindsay as to whether they wished to remain on the Indiana ballot as the New Politics Party's nominees for president and vice president.

However, Republican national committeeman L. Keith Buleen said Lindsay was sending a telegram to Branigin asking that his name be withdrawn as the vice presidential nominee.

Under Indiana law, even if McCarthy and Lindsay withdrew, the New Politics Party would remain on the ballot if it is one of the minority parties certified today by the governor. It and four other parties filed petitions by the deadline Tuesday for a place on the ballot.

Upholds Certifications
At a Tuesday meeting of the Indiana State Election Board, Branigin pointed out that an opinion from Atty. Gen. John Dillon held that Tuesday was also the deadline for the governor to certify the names and symbols of the parties to the 92 county clerks.

However, Branigin said he would wait until after the election board met again today before sending certifications to the clerks.

The George C. Wallace Party, with 32,657 signatures and the New Politics Party with 12,228 signers reported are expected to give the biggest headaches to the majority Republican and Democratic parties.

The Prohibition Party was expected to have the required 8,320 signatures.

Election board clerk Edward Bell also reported that the Socialist Labor Party had 10,635 signatures, and the Socialist Workers, 10,682.

For the first time since 1912, practical politicians are thinking in terms of a presidential election vote in which no one nominee would get a majority of all the votes cast.

In that year, Woodrow Wilson won in Indiana with 281,890 votes, but Theodore Roosevelt, as the Progressive Party nominee, was second with 162,007; William Howard Taft, the Republican nominee, third with 151,267, and Eugene V. Debs, the Socialist, fourth with 36,931.

Law Won't Bar McCarthy
As head of the election board, Branigin Tuesday polled the other two members to see if they had any question to raise about the five minority party petitions.

Edwin M. S. Steers, the Republican member, asked if a 1967 law barring a defeated primary candidate from being a general election candidate, would prevent McCarthy from being the New Politics Party nominee.

Branigin referred the question to members of Dillon's staff who have been working on election questions. They said their research indicates it does not apply because McCarthy was not being nominated for president when he ran in Indiana's primary, and in addition, the vote Nov. 5 is for the electors, not the presidential and vice presidential nominees.

Some McCarthy backers in Indiana plan to proceed with efforts to put his name on the Hoosier ballot and also to gain legal recognition for the New Politics Party. Consent of the candidate is not required, but a candidate so named can withdraw.

Can't Win
Harvey Lord, candidate for U.S. Senate on the party, said Tuesday when he delivered petitions into Branigin's office, that his party recognizes it cannot win the presidential election, but hopes to be "third strongest."

Lord said McCarthy backers can gain a change in policy by Nixon or Humphrey on Vietnam if the election is so close it goes to the electoral college or the House of Representatives.

Thurman DeMoss, Democratic member of the board, said that in his opinion, electors need only to get a plurality vote, not a majority vote in order for their nominees to gain Indiana's 13 electoral votes.

Buckley's column starts next week

EDITOR'S NOTE: Starting next week the Daily Banner will start printing a column by an informed articulate spokesman for the conservative point of view, William F. Buckley, Jr.

William F. Buckley, Jr., is like an Indiana farmer walking barefooted through a bed of red-hot coals. In Buckley's case, the coals are invariably the articulate verbal brickbats of the Who's Who of America's politically liberal intelligentsia. And like the fakir, Buckley usually walks out of the fire with little more than an occasional blister.

Seemingly as invulnerable as an Achilles without a heel under a fusillade of words that would confound Webster, he has been variously and colorfully referred to as "Peck's bad boy of literature and politics," "a literary knight errant," "the self-appointed scourge of American liberalism," "conservatism's enfant terrible," "an ideological provocateur," and even a "prurient cicerone" by one of his more exasperated detractors.

Crossing from the far left to the far right of the American political spectrum, however, this "lion of conservatism" is justly recognized as one of the prime architects of the recent amazing conservative resurgence.

In the heady aeries of political ideology far above the smoke-filled backrooms, Bill Buckley is recognized as an explosive force that has consistently dynamited the logjams of torpid thinking.

Described as the "master of the punchy, witty, sometimes elitist stab," Buckley, whether writing his nationally syndicated column, an acerbic editorial in his magazine National Review, or delivering verbal sallies with the fascinating precision and stark finality of a master bull-fighter dispatching his foe, is heard, never ignored.

In his own appraisal, Bill Buckley is a "radical conservative."

Buckley would have you think he is a barroom brawler. When he gets his Irish up, he says, "My blood gets hot, my brow wet, I become unbearably and unconsciously sarcastic and belligerent. I am girded for a total showdown."

His political adversaries wish only by conviction, a Roman Catholic, he didn't hesitate to publish a scathing appraisal of Pope John XXIII's encyclical "Mater et Magistra" in the Review that termed it "a venture in triviality." A believer in the potential of the John Birch Society, he nonetheless published a pages-long editorial in the Review excoriating its ultra-radical leader Robert Welch. The shock troops of the New Frontier are still unbearably scratching from a pungent Buckleyism, to wit: "Drop a little itching powder in Jimmy Wechsler's bath and before he has scratched himself for the third time, Arthur Schlesinger will have denounced you in a dozen books and speeches, Archibald MacLeish will have written ten heroic cantos about our age of terror, Harper's will have published them, and everyone in sight will have been nominated for a freedom award."

An imaginative critic, conceded-ing size and diversity of Buckley's arsenal, imputed that he was firing blanks. "Mr. Buckley," he wrote, "is in something of the position of a cheerleader whose team is always losing and who looks up to see that only a dedicated few are huddled in the bleachers." Now even liberals will admit, the conservative bleachers are becoming alarmingly filled. Every political philosophy to grow and thrive must have theoreticians and spokesmen; Buckley has been both.

In 1965 Mr. Buckley, running as the Conservative candidate for Mayor of New York City against John Lindsay, received thirteen percent of the total vote and notably enlivened the race with witty, perceptive comments and talks throughout the campaign.

In addition to his stimulating column "On The Right," distributed to more than 200 newspapers across the United States by King Features Syndicate, Buckley is identified with a variety of other creative activities. He is star of the TV debate program, "Firing Line," currently enjoying great success across the country, and when he is not before the cameras or in his midtown New York offices of the National Review, writing his column, or criss crossing the country for his 70-plus lectures a year, Buckley is home in Stamford, Conn., with his wife and son, Christopher, (born in 1952) Buckley somehow found time in the fall of 1967 to conduct a college course on "Problems of Big Cities" for the New School of Social Research in New York.

For recreation, Buckley likes to ski and sail, appropriately enough, since these two sports are among the least confining. He's written on the subject and participated in the Newport-Bermuda sailing races several times. That there are many who wish he might capsize bothers him not at all.

NAME
MADERA, Calif. (UPI)—Nearly a century ago, when demand for lumber in the eastern United States greatly exceeded the supply, the San Joaquin Valley town of Madera rose to the challenge.

Between 1874 and 1932, Madera shipped out millions of logs, thus deserving its name, the Spanish word for "wood" or "timber." Today, Madera not only still furnishes lumber, but has also turned to agricultural products such as grain, fruit and cotton.

Edgewood, first test for coach McCammon's '68 Tiger Cubs

Game time is 8 p. m.

First year head coach James McCammon, his young coaching staff and 40-plus Greencastle Tiger Cubs will open the schools 19th football season here tonight against Edgewood.

McCammon and crew are in hopes of adding more victories to the school's pigskin record that stands at 51 wins, 98 losses and 8-ties since the turn of the fifth decade.

The Tiger Cub two-year win-record of 15 wins and 5 losses since 1966 when Bob Bergman had 8-2 and 7-3 records, forms the longest season win streak in the school's history. The Western Indiana Conference title of 1966 also marks another record for the Cubs.

Twice the Tigers have been shut-out from victory, in a season in 1952 and 1964 with eight and 10 games on the schedule respectively and twice since 1960 Greencastle teams have won but 1 game.

Now that the local fans have been seeing winning seasons for the past two years, McCammon like nothing better than to win six or seven games this season.

"Our team is inexperienced this year, says McCammon," but were not small and the staff and myself feel confident of a good season.

The defensive line is averaging around 165 pounds per man and the offensive line is a little lighter at 159. "Comparatively we should have as big a backfield as anyone we meet with an average of 174 pounds per man, that's pretty good size," he added.

Looking over the schedule the coach felt from the third game on (Plainfield) the road would be the toughest.

"I look for Plainfield, Schulte and Sullivan to be our toughest opponents," said the 10 year veteran. "but I wouldn't say any of our oppositions are push-overs."

However the Tiger Cubs do open with what appears to be the weakest team on the schedule. Edgewood is fielding a second year team that posted a 1-7 record last year. The Mustangs have a new coach, Richard Ricker, who stated earlier in the season that this season will be "a building year with the purpose of winning".

Edgewood started its season last Friday night when it hosted Brownstown, in one of three home games, getting a 33-0 pasting.

Ricker before the season said his running game would be the most effective since he planned to teach basic football. Dave Price and Roger Blockard are two of the running backs for the Mustangs. Price tips the scales at 205, with a lot of running power and hard hitting up the middle. Blockard has more speed and weighs 175.

Other runners for Edgewood are senior halfback Larry Durnil and junior Rick Neilson, Don Skirvin, a 210 pound tackle anchors the defense and Robbie Arthur gives the team a strong kicking game.

Other games in the area pit Brazil at home against Memorial of Evansville, Clinton plays at Garfield, Honey Creek at Gerstmeier, North Central at Linton and West Vigo at Schulte. Rounding out the W.I.C. conference is Dugger at Sullivan and Wiley at Bedford.

Following is a list of probable starters for the Tiger Cubs.

Big 10 coaches hunt for best combinations

CHICAGO (UPI) — With non-conference openers two weeks away, Big Ten gridiron clubs are juggling lineups as coaches sought their most suitable offensive and defensive combinations.

Quarterbacks Phil Hagen and Ray Stephens continued their battle Thursday for the No. 1 post at Minnesota as the Gophers gird for Southern California Sept. 21. The spot has been open since the graduation of last year's regular, Curt Wilson. Coach Murray Warmath has vetoed the idea of platooning Hagen and Stephens.

At Iowa, coach Ray Nagel was pleased with the progress of his offensive unit. However, he displayed displeasure in his defensive squad after an hour-long scrimmage held in rainy conditions.

Michigan State held a scrimmage, then went through a weigh-in. The results showed Tom Beard the tallest player at 6 feet 6, Roger Rumsinski the heaviest at 256 pounds, and Kenny Heft the lightest at 162. A sophomore from Aurora, Ill., Tom Jones, running on the second string offensive unit, will miss Illinois drills for at least eight weeks. Jones suffered a broken arm in practice Wednesday.

Coach Jack Mollenkopf singled out three sophomores for praise in Purdue's goal line stand scrimmage conducted at Lafayette, Ind. They were line-backers Bob Brumby, Rick Skorupan and Veno Paraskevas.

Northwestern held its heaviest contact of the young season as the No. 1 offensive and defensive units went through a long scrimmage. Joe Zigulich of Chicago was moved to first-string center during the bruising workout.

At Ann Arbor, coach Bump Elliott stressed offensive patterns as Michigan avoided heavy contact work, and the chance of additional injuries. Capt. Ron Johnson, one of the Big Ten's best runners, returned to practice after being sidelined with a dislocated thumb.

Amateurs netters ousts pro's from semi-finals

By STEVE SNIDER
UPI Sports Writer

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (UPI) — So the pros were going to murder the amateurs?

Two amateurs — fifth-seeded Arthur Ashe of Richmond, Va., and eight-seeded Tom Okker of the Netherlands — already have grabbed two of the four slots in the semi-finals of the $100,000 U.S. Open tennis championships and not a single pro is in there yet.

What's more, seventh seeded Clark Graebner of New York has a foot in the door and could make it three out of four semi-final berths for the dazzling young men who have not yet signed pro contracts.

Graebner held a 2-1 lead in sets and was 2-all in the fourth when his match with fourth-seeded pro John Newcombe of Australia was halted by darkness Thursday. The 24-year-old Davis Cupper, who like Ashe made the Wimbledon semi-finals, led 5-7, 11-9, 6-1, 2-2 against the Aussie, who beat him for the title here last year when the Nationals were an all-amateur affair.

"I hope Graebner makes it," said Ashe. "I have to play the winner, but I want Clark because that'll mean the United States will be guaranteed one man in the final — him or me. It's possible, but not probable that the U.S. could place three men in the semis since sixth-seeded pro Dennis Ralston of Bakersfield, Calif., still is "alive" and facing a quarter-final against third-seeded Ken Rosewall of Australia.

Okker, a 24-year-old Dutchman who is called an amateur, though he's playing for prize money under the current, cockeyed international rules, simply wore out 40-year-old Pancho Gonzalez of Malibu, Calif., in the first men's quarter-final Thursday, 14-16, 6-3, 10-8, 6-3.

Then, Ashe knocked over 16th-seeded Cliff Drysdale of South Africa, earlier victor over top-seeded Rod Laver, by scoring his 27th victory in a row, 8-10, 6-3, 9-7, 6-4.

In women's singles, top-seeded Billie Jean King of Berkeley, Calif., was scheduled in a semi-final against fifth-seeded Maria Bueno of Brazil with the winner going into the final.

Sixth-seeded Virginia Wade of England gained the final Thursday with a slashing 7-5, 6-1 victory over British pro Ann Haydon Jones.

THAT'S NEVELE PRIDE-- driven by Stanley Dancer who set the world mile and 2-mile sulky records at the Indiana State Fair.

Tigers, Cards send for tickets

NEW YORK (UPI)—Baseball Commissioner William D. Eckert made it official Thursday: The Detroit Tigers and the St. Louis Cardinals were given the go-ahead to print World Series tickets.

Neither team has it clinched yet, but with the Cards leading the National League by 1 1/2 games and the Tigers leading the American League by eight games, they're figured the most likely choices to make the annual classic.

The ground rules for the series also were worked out at a meeting held in Eckert's office.

The first two games will be played in the National League City Oct. 2 and 3 with Oct. 4 an off date for travel. Games in the American League city will be played Oct. 5, 6 and 7th, if necessary, they will be played Oct. 9 and 10 in the National League city.

No Sports Blues For New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—Recent developments have given New Orleans a bright sporting outlook for the future. They include the amazing growth of the Greater New Orleans Golf Tournament, which has mushroomed from a $5,000 to a $100,000 event, the arrival of the NFL Saints and the ABA Buccaneers, and moves toward a 70,000-seat domed stadium.

McLain gets rest for number 28

By VITO STELLINO
UPI Sports Writer

It was an off day for 18 of the 20 major league teams Thursday and the guy who needed the rest the most was Denny McLain.

McLain, shooting for his 28th victory tonight when the Tigers host the Minnesota Twins, got four days rest between starts for the first time since May because the Tigers were idle Thursday.

In the first six weeks of the season, McLain had four days rest four times and even had five days rest between starts twice.

But since May 25, the arm-weary righthander has pitched consistently with just three days rest—except the three times he started with only two days rest—as he's led the Tigers in their drive for their first pennant since 1945. McLain did have four days rest between Tiger starts at the All-Star break but did pitch two innings in the All-Star game.

McLain, who won his 27th Sunday, was due to start Thursday but since the Tigers were idle, he got an extra day's rest until tonight.

U. S. seeks decathlon men

SOUTH LAKE TAHOE, Calif. (UPI)—The decathlon, one of the sports world's most grueling contests and possibly America's most forgotten, gets a two-day airing at the Echo Summit high altitude training base today and Saturday with 11 candidates shooting for three Olympic berths.

The candidates, headed by American record holder Russ Hodge of UCLA, will go in the 100-meter run, long jump, shot put, high jump and 400-meter run today. Saturday it will be the 110-meter high hurdles, discus, pole vault, javelin and 1,500-meter run.

Other than some of the shot putters in camp for the start of the final Olympic trials next Monday, Hodge easily is one of the biggest athletes on the scene. While Hodge is well known among track and field fans, hardly anyone else has heard of him. In fact you have to go all the way back to 1948 when Bob Mathias won an Olympic gold medal in the event to stir sports fans about the decathlon.

Always an excruciating test of human endurance, the decathlon gains in difficulty this year with trials in the rarified atmosphere of 7,377-foot altitude here, and the Olympics proper at Mexico City's 7,359 feet above sea level. In the thinner air, it's an accepted fact that an athlete has a longer "recovery" time—the time it takes breathing and for the pulse rate to drop back to normal.

But a decathlon athlete can't wait. The events come one right after the other.

Most of the athletes in the event feel they will be hindered only in the running events.

DEFENSIVE TACKLES

Today's profiles cover defensive tackles, usually the biggest players on the team and the most aggressive. Tackles eat nails for breakfast and "kill" is their favorite word.

JERRY HOFFMAN-- A junior letterman, stands 6-2 1/2, weighs 260, from Indianapolis where he attended Decatur Central high school. Jerry played four years of football, lettering 3-years and also lettered in baseball, basketball and track. This will be his third year on a DePauw football team, second on the Varsity. He is 20 years old and wears jersey No. 77. Hoffman is the biggest man on the team.

DONALD LEADROOT-- A sophomore, stands 5-11, weighs 200, from Skokie, Ill. where he attended St. George high school. Don was All-Conference and All-Area in high school football, playing four years, three years of wrestling and two of track. Last year Don was a Fresh fullback. ## Television in Review

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Some of the matchups of series in the new television season will be fascinating to watch in their indications of the changing tastes of the American viewing public.

Above all, there will be interest in the head-on competition of these series reveals that the basic, grassroots tastes of the home audience have hardly changed at all—as opposed to contemporary upheavals in other media.

For example, on Tuesday nights, "Julia," the NBC-TV situation comedy that stars a Negro actress—Diahann Carroll—will be going up against a very tough opponent: CBS-TV's Red Skelton, with his wide-spread grassroots appeal.

"Julia" will also have as a competitor ABC-TV's spy series, "It Takes a Thief," with Robert Wagner.

Competes with Doris

On the same night, CBS-TV's new Doris Day situation comedy...which gives every indication it is of the standard type designed to appeal to everybody—will be facing the modern-themed "N.Y.P.D." (New York Police Department) on ABC-TV. Miss Day will also have to fend off the considerable popularity of another competitor, NBC-TV's Tuesday night movie.

ABC-TV's "The Outcasts," which stars Don Murray and Otis Young as, respectively, a white and a black cowboy, will have a struggle on its hands against two CBS-TV situation comedies that also have a very basic old-fashioned appeal. One is "Mayberry R.F.D.," which is in the mold of the Andy Griffith series, and the other is "Family Affair."

In addition, "The Outcasts" is running up against NBC-TV's Monday night movie.

CBS-TV's Smothers Brothers series showed last season that a weekly program with a contemporary flavor can do well against the established staples. It more than held its ground against "Bonanza" and the Sunday night movie.

Laugh-in Successful
Then NBC-TV's "Rowan and Martin's Laugh-in" also proved that a modern-oriented series can be a commercial success. Against CBS-TV's Lucille Ball and "Gunsmoke," it was a surprise ratings-getter.

In the new season, "Laugh-in" will not only be up against Miss Ball and "Gunsmoke" again, but will take on ABC-TV's "Peyton Place," which is introducing a Negro family as regulars in its cast.

Another interesting matchup will occur Thursday nights, and will involve ABC-TV's new series, "The Ugliest Girl in Town," a London-filmed comedy about a fellow who somehow becomes known as a model with a female name. Against this wild premise will be CBS-TV's "Blondie," based on the comic strip, and NBC-TV's reliable ratings-getter, "Daniel Boone."

WW II hero bankrupt

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Audie Murphy, the most decorated U.S. soldier in World War II, blames a more recent war for bankrupting him.

The actor testified in superior court Wednesday that he was broke and was under constant scrutiny from federal and state tax collectors.

Murphy, 44, said he lost $280,000 in an Algerian oil venture when the six-day Arab-Israeli war broke out in the Middle East in June 1967. He said he hoped to "resurrect the venture."

Appearing as a judgment debtor, Murphy told Superior Court Commissioner Hman O. Danoff he is unable to pay off $13,260 due on a $15,000 promissory note he signed Nov. 13, 1964 in favor of the First National Bank of Dallas.

A judgment against the actor was entered Nov. 26, 1966.

The war hero said he has no foreseeable income in 1968 and that all residuals from past movies and television roles are confiscated by the state tax board before they reach him.
